Digital Operations & AI Automation

I’d like to join your team in a paid role looking after the website, customer follow-up, and simple AI tools that save time. I’m new to the electrical business, so I’d start by learning how you already work. You’d approve anything a customer sees.

What I’d own

- Preparing, implementing, and checking approved website changes.
- Keeping the inquiry record current and following through on the next actions I own.
- Maintaining the agreed tools and reviewing their mistakes before expanding use.
- A short weekly update: completed work, unresolved decisions, and next priorities.

A focused first assignment

One approved website improvement and one follow-up routine. Deliver a reviewable preview, a working example in your existing system, and a checked handover.

Agree paid hours, compensation, scope, access, approver, delivery date, and review time before starting. Qualified staff retain technical, pricing, scheduling, and emergency decisions.

Current evidence: a website concept, saved AI answers, and an office kit. Automatic assignment, sending, and reminders require later integration and testing.

Review the results together

The first 90 days

Days 1–30: deliver and measure

Map the inquiry path, deliver the agreed website change, and run one follow-up routine. Record the starting measurements.

Days 31–60: own and evaluate

Maintain recurring tasks. With company-approved data rules, test assistance privately and compare quality, review effort, and corrections.

Days 61–90: trial and decide

If the evidence meets the agreed bar, run a supervised trial. Review every customer reply, document fallback and cover, then recommend expanding, adjusting, or stopping.

AI tool budget

The ceiling is $400 per month including tax; hours and pay are separate. The proposed $200 plans may not both fit after tax. Choose tools within the ceiling, with no automatic top-ups. Additional services or a budget change require written approval.

Before real-message testing, agree the permitted information, approved tools, account access, private storage, and deletion arrangements. Training settings do not imply zero retention. The public demo contains fictional messages.

What I’m asking for

A paid starting role. It begins with the website and following up on customer messages, and takes on more AI help only where testing shows it works. We’d agree hours and pay together, with check-ins at 30, 60, and 90 days. Text or call Adam: 805-624-0580.
